

Looking for a company with end-to-end solutions for all your project needs? Look at Voltas' DPG. And look no further.

Whether it's our technologically advanced HVAC systems, our much-motivated MEP team, or the superior work as EPC contractors, expertise with rural electrification, state-of-the-art water management systems and life cycle solutions, remote monitoring facilities or the dedication to be as environment-friendly as possible. It's societal engineering at its best. Backed by an outstanding workforce, unrivalled experience in project execution and top notch after sales service. An extensive global supply network means all your demands can be met with immediately and innovatively.

Contact us today. For when you get end-to-end solutions, your search ends, too.

Voltas DPG is your answer to any requirement in commercial buildings, industries, urban infrastructure as well as for products like chillers, VAM and VRF.

